Crowing

Toad The Wet Sprocket

Been waiting to find
You could've been happier given the time
If he'd make up his mind
You'd give yourself to anybody
Who would cross that lineAnd it was never a question
He was crowing for repair
You'd give him love and affection
You couldn't keep him thereGet over, regrets
While you were sleeping with the angels
He was under the bed
And the more skin that you shed
The more that the air in your throat will linger
When you call him your friendAnd it was never a question
He was crowing for repair
You'd give him love and affection
You couldn't keep him thereStaring at a cold little hand
Reading fault lines of a shell of a man
You were waiting for a word from above
Wouldn't you know it?
No, answer ever did comeAnd it was never a question
You were crowing for repair
You'd give him love and affection
You couldn't keep him thereAnd it was never a question
You were crowing for repair
You'd give him love and affection
You couldn't keep him there
