

Princess

Matt Nathanson

Oh princess, you make the party
With your hands in your pockets
And your innocent eyes and all those things
Running around in your head Oh princess, you make the party
You've been everybody's darling now, everybody's win
Bold for the boys who keep you guessing
And all those things running around And, "All my pauses they're all stops anyway"
You would say
And, "All pauses they're all stops anyway
And I could really use a win" Oh princess, you act like the answer
With your hands all over me
Promising to be here when the world comes down
With all those things running around And, "All my pauses they're all stops anyway"
You would say
And, "Oh, I could really use the win
I could really use the win" I don't mind, baby
Just spill your secrets on me
I don't mind, baby
Just spill your secrets on me
I don't mind, baby Oh princess, you're ready for greatness
All edited and weightless, never more alive
And, oh dear, how they'll whisper
Your name in time
