

Dark As Day, Dark As Night

Jon Robert Quinn

As you came in
And slammed the door
You're drunk again
With the your friend the whore

On our couch
You left your keys
Then you passed out
Fall to your knees

Things that you said to me weren't right
That is what started our fight

After an evening
An evening with tears
And I'd had enough
Like it'd been years

When we try to talk
She'd watch the clock
When I got up
I took a walk

Things that you said to me weren't right
That is what started this fight
Things that you said to me weren't right
That is what started our fight

Dark as day
Dark as night
Dark as day
Dark as night

Now I came home
To her alone
Blood sweat and tears
I had more fears

Saw her on the floor
Near an open door

As she lies there
With a dead stare

What she just did wasn't right
I just lost my love tonight
The things that you said to me were right
Now I'd much rather had a fight

Dark as day
Dark as night
Dark as day
Dark as night

Dark as day
Dark as night
Dark as day
It's dark tonight
