Finally

June

Can this be real? Is she really laying next to me?
The city speaks through her window singing me to sleep
I feel like I'm getting into this too deep, soI've got your voice singing in my head
Always find a way, a way to pull me into
But I can't have youYou've got his eyes burning in your mood
He looks at you and you fall apart on cue
I lay without youI can't take this anymore, you're winning
Always coming back, wanting to push for more
I'm pushingCan this be real? Is she really laying next to me?
The city speaks through her window singing me to sleep
I feel like I'm getting into this too deep, soLike you intentionally pull me off my feet
Always looked my way Im sad to say that
Now I need youThen I come in close, I see you look exposed
Get to think about the situation that you're in now
You're often wantedI can't take this anymore, you're winning
Always coming back, wanting to push for more
I'm pushing, stop pushingCan this be real? Is she really laying next to me?
The city speaks through her window singing me to sleep
I feel like I'm getting into this too deep, soI begin to feel your head as you lay it on my chest
You say you feel safe but, baby, so do all the rest
So how do I know this isn't just a test? NoHow do you sway?
Don't you I would rather let it suffocate?
This constant feeling [Incomprehensible] to takeI'm too stupid, I know I'd like to keep the losing short
Gotta stop struggling for nothing
Please set me free from meCan this be real? Is she really laying next to me?
The city speaks through her window singing me to sleep
I feel like I'm getting into this too deep, soI begin to feel your head as you lay it on my chest
You say you feel safe, but baby, so do all the rest
So how do I know this isn't just a test? NoHow do you sway?
Don't you know I would rather let it suffocate?
This constant feeling [Incomprehensible] to takeHow do you sway?
Don't you know I would rather let it suffocate?
This constant feeling [Incomprehensible] to take
