I Hope Your Heart Runs Empty

Neverending White Lights

If all the luck in this life has all run If all my faith is undone, I had none

To track them down

And take them back where they belongCould that explain why I'm here Is that the reason why I came?

And why I feel this way

I feel, I feel I came apart hereStole a look away from you eyes

Stole a look and finally paid your price

Tethered fresh, trampled thoughts, look for me

Look at this face, everywhere there's new mistakes

And underneath it all, takes its toll, grudgingly

But with you in here, everything seems okayIf every moment could have you in it

I know where all my faith had gone

If any moment should take you away

I know I'll always have this oneIf every moment could have you in it

I know where all my faith had gone

If any moment should take you away

I know I'll always have this one

This one, this one, this oneOf any moment, ever stolen, don't take this one

As my heart runs empty now I realize

What I want would never surface otherwise

I hope your heart runs empty and you realize

Hold on to this hope, hold on to this hopeHold on to all my hope and my faith

Cause I don't wanna leave

I don't leave from your lifeBecause I wanna see, that nothing is faded

That nothing could change it

That nothing is faded

That nothing could change it of any moment

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/