

Open Wounds

Lords Of Decadence

In the dark with the music on
Wishing I was somewhere else
Taking all your anger out on me
    Somebody help
    I would rather rot alone
    Then spend a minute with you
    I'm gone, I'm gone
    And you can't stop me from falling apart
    'Cause my self-destruction is all your fault
How could you, how could you, how could you hate me?
    When all I ever wanted to be was you?
How could you, how could you, how could you love me?
    When all you ever gave me were open wounds?

    Open wounds
    Downstairs the enemy sleeps
        Leaving the TV on
        Watching all the dreams
        We had turn into static
        Doesn't matter what I do
        Nothings gonna change
        I'm never good enough
        And you can't stop me from falling apart
        'Cause my self-destruction is all your fault
How could you, how could you, how could you hate me?
    When all I ever wanted to be was you?
How could you, how could you, how could you love me?
    When all you ever gave me were open wounds?

    Tell me why you broke me down
        And betrayed my trust in you
        I'm not giving up, giving in
        When will this war end?
            When will it end
        You can't stop me from falling apart
        You can't stop me from falling apart
        You can't stop me from falling apart
        'Cause my self-destruction is all your fault
How could you, how could you, how could you hate me?
    When all I ever wanted to be was you?
How could you, how could you, how could you love me?

When all you ever gave me were open wounds?
How could you, how could you
How could you, how could you
All I ever wanted to be was you
All you ever gave me were open wounds

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>