

Infestation of Evil

Carnage

The black seed finally germinated, now the harvester has come, Rising through the flames, and his nemesis has to be punished for their insolence. The kingdom of the damned emerges from the entrails of the earth. Fools tempest miscalls their god, screaming for salvation,

Legions of death walking with the ravenous infernal beast,

But your pray isn't enough for the master of annihilation,

Look around you, drowned in a sea of tears for your savior,

Look for your own freedom, seek the inverted cross,

The false faith means destruction and condemns you to redemption.

The infestation of evil will be our way

And now the christian race will pay

In hell with satan for eternity

For taking away the virgin's chastity I see with clarity that the places of my nightmares are now between us

Through the ashes where the angels and ravens fought

Pandemonium and gehennah where belial reigns us Turning the blade around their throat; screaming is ceased by the touch of satan The earth is covered with an infernal firestorm, burning the infinite piles

Of the christian carrion. The infestation of evil has just begun

And the supreme sign in the foreheads shall burn

Satan unleashes his wrath

Thirsty for the rotten christian blood.

Remnants of fucking mankind are the present now,

Turning souls into immortality, preaching the word of the new king

Evangelist of darkness, blessed with pagan blood. His throne raised over the goodness, surrounding the earth... With dragon wings and serpent tongue! Infestation of evil...
