Love Song Requiem

Trading Yesterday

Emily will find a better place to fall asleep
She belongs to fairy tales that I could never be
The future haunts with memories that I could never have
And hope is just a stranger, wondering how it got so badI die each time you look away
My heart, my life, will never be the same

This love will take my everything

One breath, one touch, will be the end of meYou could be the final straw that brings me back to earth Ever-waiting airports full of the love that you deserve

Wishing I could find a way to wash away the past

Knowing that my heart will break, but at least the pain will lastI die each time you look away

My heart, my life, will never be the same

This love will take my everything

One breath, one touch, will be the end of meEmily will find a better place to fall asleep

Maybe she will save me in the oceans of her dream

And maybe someday love Maybe someday love Maybe someday love

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/