

Hypericum

Gem Club

dove colored in your dress and they're bringing in the bells all you wanted you could've had partly paralyzed and part of you is dancing poured your skull out on that wall for years run up the ones you thought that you could love it's the same chewed up scene we've been turning ini have been so unkind you always needed so much i have no more to give slowly circles have come to close how to lose these shuttered hearts turn out the guests tend to you now at every instant i saw you then so clearly for the first time crying
