

Burning House of Love

X

drive by my house late at night you can see from the freeway above no silhouette, but a light left on burning there for lovesmoke is rising from the fire coming out my back door i'm inside, sound asleep cigarette on the floor burning there for lovewell i can still remember a couple of years ago when the smoke and flame called my name it was a burning house of love that rusty nail over our front door is where i hung our tears in the rain i threw that horseshoe into the weeds to see what luck can bring
