

Fallen

Egoist

All is calm All is bright
The whispering angel fell,
Gently devouring all of you
It's my guilty I notice
I'm opening my eyes
On this dim blue concrete
Coldly

Call my name and give me a kiss
Then embrace me
With your lifeless body The life you spat out
Still maintains some shape
I can see a brilliant red future,
And it bursts into song next to me
What was I born for?
Please love me

Because I'll never let you go Hello mmmmmmyyyy name iiiiiiiisssss I take a sip but it doesn't heal
This thirst that feels like it's burning
I'm dyed in scarlet red,
And you ridicule me and these hands Before long,
I can't hear any sound
I concealed the sound of my breathing
At the sight of the tears in your eyes
Call my name and give me a kiss
Can I still bring you back?

With your body that doesn't even have the scent of blood I smashed apart the glass that came off
And swallowed it as it dripped down my throat
I can see a brilliant red future,
And it bursts into song next to me
What was I born for?
Are you saying that you'll love me? Every time it calls me,
I surrender myself
To my instinctive reaction
Call my name and give me a kiss
Then embrace me
With your lifeless body I'll love you until you break into pieces
The life you spat out
Still maintains some shape
I can see a brilliant red future,
And it bursts into song next to me

What was I born for?
Please love me
Until I'm satisfied
Until all of me
Is ripped apart

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>