

How Come You Lied

John Gogo

An old friend called me up today
I was kinda surprised cause he never has much to say
He told me things were going pretty bad
He lost the only love he had

He told me he'd made a big mistake
The worst one he could ever make
And when he told her the reasons why
She said she couldn't stand another lie

She said I don't wanna hear about your troubled past
Don't wanna hear about growin up way too fast
Don't say a word about your sensitive side
All I wanna know is how come you lied?

I don't wanna hear about your old home town
You're not the only lonely one around
Don't wanna know how much you cried
I only wanna know how come you lied?

I said my friend you've always had it rough
You're not the smartest guy you never were all that tough
He said he's never felt good inside
Thats why he mesed up, and thats why he lied
I never did ask him what he did
I took his word that it was something so stupid
She said she'd hear enough of his excuses
She only wanted to know what the truth is

She said I don't wanna hear about your troubled past
Don't wanna hear about growin up way too fast
Don't say a word about your sensitive side
All I wanna know is how come you lied?

I don't wanna hear about your old home town
You're not the only lonely one around
Don't wanna know how much you cried
I only wanna know how come you lied?

How come you lied?

How come you lied?
