Show Me How to Love

Sidewalk Prophets

Passed by you today
Why is there a war between us?
Are you not my brother?
Are you not my sister?
Something's got to changeStood by you today
Why is there a wall between us?
Are you not my sister?
Are you not my brother?
Well, something's got to changeI confess that I've been blind
Open up this heart of mine
Show me how to love
Farther than this world I know
Take me where You want me to go
Show me how to loveI know the times are always changing
But our hearts still beat the same
We have a Father
We have a Savior
And that will never changeI confess that I've been blind
Open up this heart of mine
Show me how to love
Farther than this world I know
Take me where You want me to go
Show me how to loveWe are one heart beating
We are one body breathing
We are broken and needing
The same love of the FatherI confess that I've been blind
I confess, start with me, Lord
