

Miles Apart

Nick Wilson

If all the clouds become our enemies
And the rain begins to fall
And the rain begins to fall
Would you still be there standing next to me
With our backs against the wall
With our backs against the wall Darling when the sky is dark
I still see it clearly, I seee
And even if we're miles apart
I'll still hold you close
Whenever I walk too far, you'll still be my home
Honey there's no easy but no matter what you're told
But even when we're miles apart, I'll still hold you close
For all the times we've had our differences
And the tears begin to fall
And the tears begin to fall
We've always made it to the final step
To look back at it all
Oh god that we seed it all
Darling when the sky is dark
I still see it clearly, I seee
Even when we're miles apart, I'll still hold you close
Whenever I walk too far, you'll still be my home
Honey there's no easy but no matter what you're told
Even when we're miles apart, I'll still hold you close
Even when we're miles apart, I'll still hold you close
Whenever I walk too far, you'll still be my home
