

Dear Old Nicki

Nicki Minaj

maybe you died cuz everybody asking where you at i tried to channel you in hopes that i can stare your back but its like every intersection we just missed each other you got your fans waiting, tell me you aint six feet under and tell that you coming back, and you just took a break maybe i blamed you for everything, that was my mistake in high in site i loved your rawness and i loved your edge cuz it was you who took me down from jumping off the ledge your earrings bamboo, your long nails to, your BMW everytime you came through you was the brave heart ? you stole wayne heart :p ? you never switched it up, you played the same part but i needed to grow, and i needed to know was there some things inside of me that i needed to show so i just deaded you, left you in all black but dear old Nicki, please call back ? :.,^( you told me, you'll come when, i needed you and you said it so sweetly, i believed you but im standing, here calling, i cant see you but i am holding you, holding you, holding you, to dat yo, did i chase the glits and glamour, money, fame, and power cuz if so that will forever go down my lamest hour i shoulda kept you wit me, getting at them nameless cowards they was no match for you, couldnt defeat you powers i had to make them changes i hope you understood you see for every bad, i did a ton of good but you was underground, and i was mainstream i live a life now, that we would day dream my only wish is you come enjoy it wit me get on them conference calls, go meet the lawyers wit me the money came yea, tripled, and quadrupled it but i still miss up when we were just on some stupid shit and it still fucked the media they ridiculed you never believed in ya they just deaded you, left you in all black

you told me, you'll come back when, i needed you and you said it so sweetly, i believed you
but im standing, here calling, i cant see you

yes im holding you, holding you, holding you yes im holding you, holding you, holding you (2x's)
to dat
