Take You Back

Graham Colton

Looks like history?s repeating
I don?t learn from my mistakes
I can?t feel the water rising
A wave will always break

I want to take you back
Back to where we started before the lights had changed
Words we didn?t get to say seem to hit the hardest
Now just your memory is all that ever coming back to me

Now the hart you are defending has guards that I can?t kill
Can?t you see the happy ending?
I?ll race you standing still

Did you think that you could be so far gone that I couldn?t find you?
Did you think you could leave every little piece of me behind you?
Pictures in your head you won?t forget reminding you of me

I want to take you back
Back to where we started before the lights had changed
Words we never get to say always hit the hardest
Now we?ll never be
I want to take you back
Back to where we started before everything changed
Words I never got to say still hit me the hardest
Now just your memory is all that ever coming back to me
I know you?re never coming back
I know you?re never coming back

Lyrics submitted by Cherise.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/