

Van Gogh Sun

Everclear

Slow slam dancing with the dream of you
I am smiling through the pain of the ugly truth
A black light burning bright I illuminate an empty room
I wish I was better at the things that really matter to you
I don't care how long it takes I will never give up on you
The shine was in my eyes when the new world swallowed you like a life that never happened
You are like every emotion I never learned how to use, they never do what I tell them to do
I want to be better with all the good words that really matter to you
I don't care how long it takes I will never give up on you
I want to walk inside a Van Gogh sun
A Technicolor world all perfect and new
I want to live where there are no shadows
Of all those stupid things that we used to do
I will never give up on you
I have found my happy place with the fear that I will never see you again
I guess you and me are in the place that we are meant to be, life is not supposed to make sense
I know I need to be better in all the good ways that really matter to you
I don't care how long it takes I will never give up on you
I want to walk inside a Van Gogh sun
And see a better world all different and new
I want to live where there are no shadows
Of all those stupid things we both know that we used to do
I want to walk inside a Van Gogh sun
I want to see the world exactly like you do
I want to live where the past doesn't matter
Whatever it takes I will never give up on you
I will never give up on you
I will never give up
I will never give up on you
All the pain and all the hate are gonna fade away
I want to dream under those Van Gogh stars
That made us feel like there was nothing that we couldn't do
I want to live where there are no shadows
I want to find the Van Gogh sun that shines on you
I want to walk inside a Van Gogh sun
I want to see the world exactly like you do
I want to live where our past doesn't matter
Whatever it takes I will never give up on you
I will never give up on you
I will never give up
I will never give up on you
