

Lie to Me

Daniel Powter

I knew this girl named Detroit Cool that lived up in my block
At 6 foot 2, her knee socks high, the class of 80 rocks
She got hips that sway for you
And she got legs that never really stoppedShe asked me if my mamma dressed me
And I do like I should
From East Delror to 51st, I'm on this neighborhood
She just smiles and says to me
I just wanna know if we are goodShe said, "Tell me once again, why would you lie to me?"
She said, "Do me like you should, why would you try for me?
That all depends on you, where would you rather be
'Cause I've got everything you want
Take me back to yours 'cause that's the best I want" You can't trust me
We won't make it if we put you in the moon
She said, "No, no, I've been there before
You got that attitude"
You sold me out before all this
And now I'm fabulous without you" Tell me once again, why would you lie to me"
She said, "Do me like you should, why would you try for me?
That all depends on you, where would you rather be
'Cause I've got everything you want
And take me back to yours" Why it takes so long
It's all gone wrong and I can't say what
'Cause I've got everything you need
Who says I could use the time for you to believe?" Tell me once again, why would you lie to me?"
She said, "Do me like you should, why would you try for me?
It all depends on you, where would you rather be?" Tell me once again, why would you lie to me?"
She said, "Do me like you should, why would you try for me?
It all depends on you, where would you rather be?"
