Only Inhuman

Sonic Syndicate

My presence of mind
Gave away the route to find
Incessant self-discipline
And I took it to my heartIn return it besieged all my emotions
In return it raped my consciousness
Can no longer tell if this is my voice
Or the thing deep inside of meWill I ever find my refuge now?
Ever know myself again?
Will I ever learn to treasure the ones I care for?
Everyone leaves in the end
Doesn't matter how hard you hold on
Doesn't matter how much you drain your heart forTrust kill on my mindHow do you define the infestation of mine?
How do you define a invocation of a fallen?
Searching for something better
Will I ever find something better?All that's left of me are counterfeit emotions
All that's left of me is an artificial soul
Even so a black void in this synthetic core
Will always mark where
Where the heart used to beat
