

A Beast Am I

Amon Amarth

Conceived was I from chaos and hate
Of malice, deceit and blood
And how would they know my fate is to rise
Against the Asa gods
My being is full, full of a rage
An evil that can't be tamed
It darkens my soul and blackens the blood
A fire that fills my veins
So how did I ever end up here?
Humiliated, broken and weak
I've waited for a thousand years
To break these chains apart
And to finally break myself free
I bit the hand off the mighty Tyr
When I couldn't tare my ties
Now banished, I dwell a sword in my jaw
Awaiting the end of time
In darkness I drown consumed by my hate
Longing for revenge
All father will pay for his deceit
At the battle of Ragnar
