Blue Bittersweet

Ilse DeLange

Blue bittersweet, blue bittersweet
Like crowds that turned to
clouds floating over me
Blue bittersweet, blue bittersweet
Like clouds that turned to crowds running over meNo interference
No interruption
Less demolition
Some reconstruction
Consider consideration
Interpret interpretation
Someone to follow
Someone to look to Someone to hold you
Why you search for liberation on the road to salvationBlue bittersweet, blue bittersweet
Like crowds that turned to
clouds floating over me
Blue bittersweet, blue bittersweet
Like clouds that turned to crowds running over meWith independence
Who will defend us?
It's hard to extend us
What if it ends us?
Determine determination
Frustrated, we're a frustrated nation
No one to follow
No one to look to
No one to hold you
Starving in desperation, on a slow steady road to hellBlue bittersweet, blue bittersweet
Like crowds that turned to
clouds floating over me
Blue bittersweet, blue bittersweet
Like clouds that turned to crowds running over me
Running over me, running over me, running over meWho is the child that lives without shelter?
When do we hear her talking to you?
Where is the child, with no one to help her?
Who is the one who smiles?
[intermezzo]

Who is the child that lives without shelter?
When do we hear her talking to you?
Where is the child, with no one to help her?
Who is the one who smiles?When she's blue, when she's bluehuuuWho is the child that lives without shelter?
When do we hear her talking to you?
Where is the child, with no one to help her?
Who is the one who smiles?When she's blue, when she's bluehuuu
