History

Funker Vogt

They were fighting for land in earlier days
Wanting to extend their living space
They were fighting for their faith a thousand years
Call it holy war - it's the sum of your fearsThey are fighting for oil at the present time
Want to suppress all of these crimes
Fighting goes on in the next decade
It will never stop until it's too lateThey will fight for water not far from today
A limited resource after the decay
They were fighting for land in earlier days
Thought they were a superior raceHistory repeats itself
The war will soon begin
It's already ten to twelve
We are almost withinA new war just started to avenge their nation
The war against terror - our new obligation
We are in a tunnel with no light at the end
The war is not over, so much more to defend

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/