In the Pouring Rain

Bob Geldof

Everybody's gonna catch their death
In the pouring rain
Everybody better hold their breath
In the pouring rainEverybody's gonna walk on by Everybody hide away
Everybody's gonna pull their blinds
And stay inside and pass these daysI know I've seen a lot
Lord knows, sometimes I've cried
But I know we can't sit like this and shake our fists
While lovers kiss and die in the pouring rain
In the pouring rainI was hungry and I'm hungry still
And now it's pouring rain
I look okay but I've been feeling ill
And now it's pouring rainWell, hush now, baby, don't you cry
Tears won't wipe away the pain
There's a storm been blowing through the night
That's washed us down with lethal rain, wellSometimes this world's too big Sometimes we feel too small
Sometimes you'll have to pick me up
When I grow tired, stumble, trip and fallIn the pouring rain, in the pouring rain
In the pouring rain, in the pouring rainI'm gonna walk on by (Walk, walk)
I'm gonna walk on by
(Walk, walk)Walk
(Walk, walk, walk, walk)
I'm gonna walk
(Walk, walk, walk, walk)I'm gonna walk on by
(Walk, walk, walk, walk)
I'm gonna walk on by
(Walk, walk)
In the pouring rain
(Walk, walk)Don't wanna see you cry
(Walk, walk)
I'm gonna walk on by
(Walk, walk)I'm gonna walk, talk
[Incomprehensible]
(Walk, walk, walk, walk)I'm gonna walk
(Walk, walk)
In the pouring rain

(Walk, walk, walk, walk)
