

Love At Last

Paul Batto Jr.

I'm not going to wait for the beating of my heart
It takes too long for that broken pump to start
When you get off that plane will you still be mine
When we're both home again
I spent too long obsessing over self abuse
And I'm not gonna cry cos there's never any use
When you get off that plane will you still be mine
Cos I'm never gonna be on my own again
I'm in love, love, love
When we're both home again and we've run out of time
I've embraced a new beginning its you until the end
I've got my arm around but it don't feel the same
Love At last.
It'd be easier if I wasn't still around
I know the doubts you have when the distance gets you down
Know our time will come if we can get through all of this
How long can you hang on to another last promisePre Chorus
