

Q&A

Kishi Bashi

You are the answer to my question
You are my accomplice in a crime
You are my wingwoman, and did I mention
We were together in another life
In that dreaming, you probably were my wifeCause we worshiped and sinned for fun
Two melting candles against the sun
Modern angels, they break their wings in the wind
For whatDecorated by man and time
Ornamental and quite divine
Manifested in the commitment to
Flay our mindsYou are the answer to my question
You are my accomplice in a crime
You are my wingwoman, and did I mention
We were together in another life
In that moment, you probably were my wifeIn the twilight they danced and played
The fireflies, they go lighgt like rain
In the dreaming we struck each other and prayed
For painYou are the answer to my question
You are my accomplice in a crime
You are my wingwoman, and did I mention
We were together in another life
In that dreaming, you probably were my wife
