

Alone

CoCo and the Butterfields

Oh boy you're sleeping are you dreaming of the world
Is your rucksack upon your back as you're walking through the wild
Because you told me when you were a child you would dream
And you told me if you ever got away then you would sing La La La La I'm all alone
It's a big wide world but everyone's stuck at home Now boy you've grown up and I've shown up in your dreams
And I will take you to the bottom of the sea
Where we can build a house and we can learn to breathe
Underwater, cos it's magic and you've cast your spell on me
Boy I'm dreaming, I must be sleeping in my bed
All I have is your song and it's running through my head La La La La I'm all alone
It's a big wide world but everyone's stuck at home
La La La La I'm all alone
It's a big wide world but everyone's stuck at home I heard you singing can I join in with your tune
I know you're all alone but if you think things through
You can take your eyes that are shining like the moon
And face them my way, I know your gaze could make a little room La La La La I'm all alone
It's a big wide world but everyone's stuck at home
La La La La I'm all alone
It's a big wide world but everyone's stuck at home When we come together, it feels as though we've never been apart
You facinate me, just make sure you end up at my heart
I'm fascinated how you've made me want for nothing more
A dream is what you are
