Running Out

Down to Nothing

Can you lie still without making a sound?
Pacified hell, just don't scratch the surfaceAway, away, you're running out, you're running out
You're running out, you're running outHow long before you crack?
How long before you turn back?She knows you too well, she'll watch your every move
Better to not know than to endure this silenceAlways, alwaysHow long before you crack?
How long before you turn back?Your ground will fall from under your feet
Your sky will crumble in, you will be swallowed aliveYou're running out, you're running outHow long before you crack?
How long before you turn back?
How long before you crack?
How long before you turn back?You turn back
You turn back
You turn back
