Toonmowi Tree

Deya Dova

So you hear it
You hear your heart beat
And you know, yeah,
What it is that really makes it tickYeah you hear it,
You hear it calling.
That voice inside that says
There's more to tell than thisThere's something larger.
There's something sky bound.
So come with me now through the limbs of this tree
Higher! Higher still,
Driven by the knowing
That there's more to tell than this.So you hear it,
The clay pots smashing.
The water's flooding through
Whatever sleeping pathsA cold shower
In the morning wide awake
Because we know there's more to tell than thisThere's something larger.
There's something sky bound.
So come with me now through the limbs of this tree
Higher! Higher still,
Driven by the knowing
That there's more to tell than this.Come on and go burst through the canopy like
The sun splitting the darkest cloud
To breathe it in
This deeper wind-
Let's bring it inCome and burst through the canopy like
The sun splitting the darkest cloud
To breathe it in
This deeper wind-
Let's bring it inHolding onto this tree I am
So to never to fall from its branches again
