

Sellout

Biohazard

So many times I've been lied to, blind to The ways of the world I've been lied to, blind to Could ever give a damn I never understand how this master plan speaking man to man Hypocritical stance don't make me piss in my pants You never care unless there's money to make I'll never sacrifice, I got no time in my life To fuck around with something that I know is fake You want to sell your soul, I'll never sell my soul You never understand exactly what kind of man that I am You think I envy your life but you never realize I always live the way that I choose 'till you wear my shoes Feel so much regret but you never let You point fingers and lie, the harsh truth you deny That make you live the truth Life is a game that you don't want to lose You want to sell your soul, I'll never sell my soul and be the one you disrespect and lie to the one you really want to live your life through the soul you sell is really your own because I'm the only one you can never lie to Chorus: Sellout-you want to sell your soul Sellout-you want to play that role Sellout-I'll never sell my soul Sellout-you want to take control Lead Sellout-sell your soul (x2) Sellout-sell your soul (x2) Doing much of the same way, real, I never did it for fame or glory Since back in the day, I've been up in this game For all these years, with no respect from my peers I kept it real and told my story Sellout-This shit is real and I can never be fake I'll do whatever it takes within reason I live and die for whatever I believe in Sellout-Made so many mistakes, never caught any breaks Sellout-You want to sell your soul, I'll never sell my soul and be the one you disrespect and lie to the one you really want to live your life through the soul you sell is really your own because I'm the only one you can never lie to Chorus

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>