

To Take the First Turn

Black Peaks

Halo
You're not who you say that you are
Without your light glows
You're not who you say that you are
HaloAt first light
You're changing your mind, I've opened your eyes
You had your day glow
No longer so shy, I've opened your mind
It's for the first time
And down we go
Not for the last time
You're bringing us down, stop bringing us down
Down
Halo
You're not who you say that you are
Without your light glows
You're not who you say that you are
HaloHalo
You're not who I thought that you wereWasted wishes, like coins in a well
All a life you've waited so long
So come tonight
We feel so strongSo open your eyes
And look into mine
Now that nothing I do
Means a morsel to you
I can push on and through
Like you wanted me to
I've been wasting my time
On this whole pantomime
Just how far can I climb
('til) I fall back in the slime?'cause it's not just a case
Of improve and erase
I've been slapped in the face
(and) every possible place
So I think that you know
How the story will go
Just regroup and repeat
'til the next time we meet...
