Don't Come To Me

Mary Lu Zahalan

Walking down the avenue
Every step I take I see you
There's nothing more that I can do
To hold back from cryingIt's not that I don't have the time
To hear your voice would only cost a dime
I'm gonna save myself a dime
And you know why'Cos in the night when you're alone
There is no one you can turn to
As you're reaching for the phoneOh, don't come to me
I won't be there, you see
You turned this heart to stone
Now you'll walk alone
So don't come to me, yeahHow do I get left this way?
I must have been born yesterday
Every single word you'd say
Were lies, lies, liesStill walking down that avenue
Every step I take, I see you
There's nothing more that I can do
To hold back from cryingSo if you're looking for a friend
And you need someone that you can turn to
If you've got some time to spendDon't come to me
I won't be there, you see
You turned this heart to stone
Now you'll walk alone
So don't come to me, yeah'Cos in the night when you're alone
There is no one you can turn to
As you're reaching for the phoneDon't come to me
I won't be there, you see
You turned this heart to stone
Now you'll walk alone
So don't come to me, don't come to me[Incomprehensible]
Don't come to me
