Dreaming Neon Black

Nevermore

"Again it poured over me in waves.
When she left with them she said I must break free from the dark. I tried to tell her of their poison, she chose not to hear.
She was never seen again"Sometimes when I'm alone I still feel you Your breath on my neck, you're still with me
And I'm still dreaming neon black I wait for you, to taste your unknown world
The clock spins to time that must mean nothingMeet me in the dreamtime water, drown Shifting shaping currents flow in memory
swim through me
Meet me in the drowning pool of tears
And wash away my innocence and fearSometimes I wonder where you are, can you feel my tears?
I never knew what changed you Did they paint your dreams in pale shades?
I wait for you, you know you cannot hide Division from within invalidates sufferingMeet me in the dreamtime water, drown Shifting shaping currents flow in memory
swim through me
Meet me in the drowning pool of tears
And wash away my innocenceI am a child of light living in your mind
The pain, the unknowing washes away in time Until then will you meet me whenever I call to you?Meet me in the dreamtime water, drown
Shifting shaping currents flow in memory
swim through me
Meet me in the drowning pool of tears
and wash away my innocence Meet me in the dreamtime water, drown
Shifting shaping currents flow in memory
swim through me
Meet me in the drowning pool of tears
And wash away my innocence
Meet meMy only cure won't you meet me?
In the drowning pool of fate the moon and the sun still wait Won't you meet me?
I suffer silently for our love, the jester has lost his dove

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/