White Wine

Arthur Walwin

Oh how'd you get so sweet?
Baby tell me why - tell me how you taste like white wine.Moving back in time.
Repeating all the bad things.
'Cause I never learn and I never regret.
But I'm inside your head and you're inside my heart, and I can feel you pulling strings with your smile.'Cause feelings don't last, but memories do.
And I bent the truth when I swore to you that things could change: clean the mess I've made.
Now I'm all out of luck; and I burned out all your love for me.You're so sweet,
Pour all over me.
Baby you're like white wine.
Slowly intoxicate me.
Baby you're like white wine.Running through my veins.
Your chemical controls me; tearing through my skin like an animal.
You're using all I have and draining out my insides.
Drag me through the dirt 'cause you know how much it hurts now.You're so sweet,
Pour all over me.
Baby you're like white wine.
Slowly intoxicate me.
Baby you're like white wine.Oh how'd you get so sweet?
Baby tell me why - tell me how you taste like white wine.You're so sweet,
Pour all over me.
Baby you're like white wine.
Slowly intoxicate me.
Baby you're like white wine.
