

Better Word for Love

Dave Edmunds

Here's another morning, soon she'll be waking up i watch her and wonder, is there a better word for love so many times i've told her, it never seems enough but i keep searching, for a better word for love mumblin', stumblin', wonderin' when i'll find a way i know, she knows there's nothing left to say tonight when i'm out walking, i'll ask the stars above if out there-somewhere, there's a better word for love so here's another morning, soon she be waking up i guess i'll just hold her tight till there's a better word for love
