

By the Sword (Feat. Andrew Stockdale)

Slash

With the horses that you ride
And the feelings left inside
Comes a time you need to leave all that behind
Well, they claim they'd like to know
And they won't could let you go
And the people gather round for the last show Well, there is a reward
To live and die by the sword
Well, they tried to complicate you
But you left it all behind
All the worldly possessions
Are left for recollections
And finally it's all gone They're releasing all the hounds
What is lost can still be found
When you're [Incomprehensible] down on the ground
Well, there's those who choose to run
Following the setting sun
And now it seems the journey's has begun Well, there is all we want
To live and die by the sword
Well, they tried to complicate you
But you left it all behind
All the worldly possessions
Are left for recollections
And finally it's all gone With the horses that you ride
And the feelings left inside
And comes a time you need to leave it all behind Well, that is all we want
To live and die by the sword
Well, they tried to complicate you
But you left it all behind
All the worldly possessions
Are left for recollections
And finally it's all gone

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>