

Vision Bell

Dappled Cities

To say you've heard the vision bell
Means that everything you say is what I'm looking for
The sounds you see the sights you smell
The shapes your words are forming form a necessary world
We'll keep the sun for the morning but don't tell your heart

The patterns of our words collide
To make a common sense when they are woven in our minds
Blanket thoughts so kept untold
And keeping it that way will keep us singing through our eyes
We'll keep the sun for the morning but don't tell your heart

All the same, what we're looking for is all the same
But somehow I'm still looking, oh, still listening all the same

So now you've heard the vision bell
Everything you say is what I'm looking for
The sounds you see the sights you smell
The shapes your words are forming form a necessary world
We'll keep the sun for the morning but don't tell your heart
Don't tell your heart

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com

written by ALEXANDER MICHAEL MOORE, DAVID WILEY RENNICK, HUGH EDWARD BOYCE Lyrics © REACH MUSIC PUBLISHING, Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlrics.com/>