

Don't Let the Sun Catch You Cryin

Jeff Buckley

When the moon goes down in the dawn
And the sun comes up in the morning
Don't let the sun catch you cryin'
'Cause daddy don't want you Don't let the sun catch you cryin'
Cryin' at my front door
There, you done daddy dirty now
He sure don't want you no more Don't let the sun catch you lyin'
Lyin' at my front door
Ya daddy's done turn salty
Baby you've made him so, hmm You can cry, cry, cry
Yes baby, you can wail
Beat your head on the pavement
'Til the man comes and throws you in jail But don't let the sun catch you cryin'
Cryin' at my front door
You done daddy dirty now
He sure don't want you no more You can cry, cry, cry, cry
Yes, baby you can wail
Beat your head on the pavement
'Til the man comes and throws you in jail But don't let the sun catch you cryin'
Cryin' at my front door
You done daddy dirty
He sure don't want you no more When the moon goes down in the dawnin'
And the sun comes up in the morning
Don't let the sun catch you cryin'
'Cause daddy don't want you no more I just like that song I don't know who wrote that, but you know, don't let the sun catch you cryin' everybody sings it
Louis Jordan, Ray Charles, all those people

Songwriters

JOE GREENE Published by

Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>