Almost a Lovesong

Sundown Delay

This is almost a lovesong
Got her footprints all over my back
She came in from the horizon
Cassandra took one step back
Sheâ€™s barefoot even with shoes on
A true natureâ€™s child
And since this is almost a lovesong
She melts ice with her smile

A travesty of reality when it comes to the bad aspects of life
Iâ€™m suggesting the grey-scale before the wine
And the reason before the cries

Iâ€™m anything but the tough guy
My heart of stoneâ€™s pure fear
Her glasses left on the night stand
And I burst out in tears

To look upon life through fairy tale eyes brings only truth and lies
My love for you is never as strong and true as when weâ€™re in different rooms

My heart says all I need is you
My head says something else
