The Freeze

Lene Lovich

The icicles are forming in our eyes
As we go, as we go
The lucky ducks are waving us good bye
What a show, as we goDon?t forget your name, or the place from which you came
And the rest who still remain belowThe best of us are taken by surprise
Even so, even so
We can?t avoid the ultimate device
What a blow, even soHigh and higher
How far do we go?
We can?t expect to always see the sun shine
Frozen, silent, waiting in the cold
This is the longest night of allThe instruments are beating with a sigh
Yes we know, yes we know
ItÂ¹s time to close the door and say good night
Time to go, yes we knowAll is cold tonight, but the stars are shining bright
And one day weÂ¹ll see the light, I knowWe can?t expect to always see the sun shineThis is the longest night of all
