

Brave New World

Hedley

Hello, I love you
Won't you tell me your name?
Hello, I need you, like a bullet to my brain
It seems I'm never breaking free
While you sit and watch me bleed
When the night falls there's nowhere to go I won't let you in let you see me cry
I can't give you that satisfaction this time
Do you really get what you need
Beating the hell out of me?
I'm so tired of getting up off the floor
I won't take this anymore I won't take this anymore So low, but still breathing
Funny how you show you care
Is hell still beneath me?
Or am I already there?
It seems I'm never breaking free
While you sit and watch me bleed
When the night falls there's no where to go I won't let you in let you see me cry
I can't give you that satisfaction this time
Do you really get what you need
Beating the hell out of me?
I'm so tired of getting up off the floor
I won't take this anymore All that's left in this brave new world
Is ticking clocks and dancing girls
And broken hearts to find another way to shut it all out
Take some life in time to see
This point of view from on your knees
Electric hearts will play a song you've heard a thousand times
A thousand times... I won't let you in let you see me cry
I can't give you that satisfaction this time
Do you really get what you need
Beating the hell out of me?
I'm so tired of getting up off the floor
I won't take this anymore I won't take this anymore
