Change for You

The Midway State

So here we fall and here we break
And all that we had is just now a mistake
I guess it got boring and old
So what have you done
You left me alone

You got your things
You got them all
And you know there's nothing you won't have
And I'm afraid I don't got the cash to keep you happy and not sad
'Cause you showed me that you're not free
That you need big fat limousines
To keep you high, to keep you safe, keep you in love.

What if I change for you
Then will you see me still with you
Well, I'd never do it
I'm no fool

So here we fall and here love breaks
And all that we had is now just a mistake
You look so young
Feel so misled
And your stuffy friend have gone to your head

You got your things
You got them all
And you know there's nothing you won't have
And I'm afraid I don't got the cash to keep you happy and not sad
'Cause you showed me that you're not free
That you need big fat limousines
To keep you high, to keep you safe, keep you in love

What if I change for you
Then will you see me still with you
Well, I'd never do it
I'm no fool
Honey, I'm not you.

I walk away thinking back to the days

That I held you close in your puffy white coat
And you told me, "Joe, I can never let go
No, I need you more than my life itself"
And the rain poured down
And I kept you dry
Yeah, I took the tears falling from your eyes
And the snow came down
And I kept you warm
And I kept you safe from your daddy's storm
When he said to you
That you can't see me
"All those poor boys got nothing good to be"
Now they got to you
And what do you say
You want some rich guy instead of me

What if I change for you
Then will you see me still with you
Well, I'd never do it
I'm no fool
Honey, I'm not you

You asked me to change for you
Then will you see me still with you
Well, I'd never do it
I'm no fool
Honey I'm not you
