Two Boats

Mary Lou Lord

Harsh words I heard him say
He knows how to hurt me
Rear lights and flying kites
Long days in the sun
All gone behind us now
So hard to remember
This time I'll put it down
Before it's begun

And you harbored in your sheltering bay
Still watching as she's sailing away
No movement on the ocean today
But for two boats drifting apart

Deep looks into my eyes he tries to convince me
No way I'd fall for that I know what I am

He swears and so do I
But we don't believe it
No God or chosen one
Can prove where we stand

And you harbored in your sheltering bay
Still watching as she's sailing away
No movement on the ocean today
But for two boats drifting apart

And Now I doubt everything I knew,
Or at least what I supposed
It's my fault and it's your fault too, you know

And you harbored in your sheltering bay
Still watching as she's sailing away
No movement on the ocean today
But for two boats drifting apart

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by LORD, MARY LOU / SALOMAN, NICK Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/