

A Drunk Can't Be a Man

George Jones

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

He embarrasses his child and wife
Lord, he leads a miserable life
But still he thinks the bottle is his right hand
Yes and he can tear down more
Than he's ever built before
A man can be a drunk sometimes
But a drunk can't be a man
He lets your business lag behind
For the nightlife he can find
Why he does all this he'll never understand
And in the morning when he wakes up
Lord, he can't wait to fill his cup
A man can be a drunk sometimes
But a drunk can't be a man
For he goes from Dr. Jekyll to Mr. Hyde
He seems proud to have the devil for his guide
Still he keeps on reachin' out
Lord, he needs a helping hand
But a man can be a drunk sometimes
But a drunk can't be a man
Yes, a man can be a drunk sometimes
But a drunk can't be a man
