

Winterstorm

Kirkebrann

as leader I remain aware as they all sleep
I see my breath in the freezing air yet as I wander through the snow all alone
can't help but feel at home I wander so silently I touch the ground that I traverse move swift without a single sound and as I wander through the snow I'm strong alone
can't help but feel at home
I wander predicting searching soul-less eyes exit the dark emerging now from night's disguise and as I hunt through-out the night I walk alone
can't help but feel at home
I'm where I belong
