Love is a disease

it infects what you believe about yourself and the others you need and love is not kind it won't smile and it won't shine it isn't there when you need it you can't save it you can't delete it and love is cruel and unforgiving and love is usually unwilling to give you back what you've been given it will scorch the earth just 'cause you're tilling it and like a cat that you've been petting for every day of every single week but when you need it and you're feeling week and love is viscous and love is spiteful but also it just doesn't care so you can fight it but when you strike at it it will just vanish like it was never there but believe me it's still there just not in your shoes or heart or hair

'cause I've looked in all the obvious places and still haven't found it anywhere but when I find it I will kill it so that I can get on with my life and regain composure of my posture and control of the thoughts in my own mind because love, will break you apart But now hate is accessible and jealousy is free bitterness is easy and blame comes even easier for me and lust is a game that you will always will lose osing when each level has new contestants and you can yell out "okay I'm finished

I wanna win" well too bad because winning's not up to you all you can do is choose when to begin to start losing something different shaped vaguely like pride but much bigger and much heavier and much much easier to find and once you give that away you will know by the sickness in your stomach and the numbness in your toesbecause love, will break you apart and love, will break you apart

love, is hard
