

Freaks (1998 Remaster)

Marillion

Have you ever met a lady, screaming angst potential?
Have you ever dreamed of romance, no matter how experimental?
Have you ever felt an alien drifting back into your hometown?
Did you think you were buying safety
When you bought that piece of ground? She said, "All the best freaks are here"
She said, "All the best freaks are here"
Please stop staring at me So I said, "All the best freaks are here"
All the best freaks are here
Please stop staring at me Have you ever woke up, sweating in the middle of the night?
You search the darkness and you're scrambling for the light
Have you ever walked down the street, heard boot steps following you?
Don't worry my son, you've got the spook squad looking after you He said, "All the best freaks are here"
He said, "All the best freaks are here"
Please stop staring at me So I said, "All the best freaks are here"
All the best freaks are here
Please stop staring at me, stop staring at me Airport terminal, patiently waiting on the last call
You feel the eyes burn the back of your head
Sign the autograph, get out of the picture, gonna have the last laugh
Feel the whispers as you head for the plane
Stop staring at me Love and linen sheets, seem so very far away
You save your pennies and you buy another day
But after all it's only hide and seek, just another game
There's so much fun to be had when you're living with a name All the best freaks are here
All the best freaks are here
Please stop staring at me All the best freaks are here
All the best freaks are here
Please stop staring at me Stop staring at me
Stop staring at me
Stop staring at me They said, "All the best freaks are here"
All the best freaks are here
Please stop staring at me All the best freaks are here
All the best freaks are here
Please stop staring at me

Songwriters

Dick, Derek William / Kelly, Mark / Mosley, Ian / Rothery, Steve / Trewavas, Pete Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>