Losing Control

The Epoxies

need to stimulation im all parafied out need new concentration dont know what its about no clarification no time to get by im in competition you live life as a lie i say hey you and i know you are all loosing control we are all loosing control one new conversation dont know what its about youve lost concentration and your times running out you search for a new thing new joy to get by this weekend a new fling you know your life is a lie say hey you and i know you are all loosing control we are all loosing control need new stimulation im all parafied out need new concentration dont know what its about no clarification no time to get by im in competition you live life as a lie
we are all loosing control [x14]

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/