Angels and Heroes

Brian Littrell

Oh, yeahWe are the poets, we are the dreamers
We are the soldiers, we are the screamers
We are the fallen to rise againWe are the lovers, we are cynics
We're the hours, we are the minutes
We are all friends in the endSo why be alive if you don't Follow your every dream?
Reach up to Heaven
And stand for what you believeWe don't need wings to be angels
We don't need reasons to be right
Your love makes us all better
That's who we really are
Angels and heroes at heartWe are the givers, we are receivers
We are confessors, we are believers
We are the strange familiar faceWe are afraid and so we follow
We're underpaid and so we borrow
We mine for tears but much too lateSo why can't we open hearts
Open our minds?
Forgiving is easy for You will come
If we open our eyesWe don't need wings to be angels
We don't need reasons to be right
Your love makes us all better
That's who we really areOh, we don't need sleep to be dreamers
We don't need to have tears in our eyes
Your love makes us all better
That's who we really are
Angels and heroes at heartOh, I know it seems easier to run and hide
And bury all emotions in the dark of night
But it's worth the fight, worth the fight
Just aim for the lightWe don't need wings to be angels
We don't need reasons to be right
Your love makes us all better
That is who we areWe don't need sleep to be dreamers
We don't need to have tears in our eyes
Your love makes us all better
And that is who we are
Angels and heroes at heart

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/