

Child You're Not Alone

Annie Herring

Sometimes doubts come and fill your mind
They cloud your vision, leave you blind
But I know that truth is never far behind
If you, will walk the straight and narrow
You can break Satan's arrow
You can change the dark around you

Child, you're not alone
Child, you're not your own
You belong to the throne of the Great High King

In those times when your heart doesn't fill His heart at all
When you walk with Him, it slows down to a crawl
When those situations rise you will never fall
If you, will walk the straight and narrow
You can break Satan's arrow
You can change the dark around you

Child, you're not alone
Child, you're not your own
You belong to the throne of the Great High King
Child, you're not alone
Child, you're not your own
You belong to the throne of the Great High King
