

Tell Me About Everything

Four Letter Lie

How dare you make me choose, your side of this thorn?
after where you've been,

It's time to cover up and tell me about everything
you're missing, you're wishing, you're hoping.
tell me about everything

When the morning after settles you in, you can't remember anything.
anything but the sound when the last two hearts in town That ever meant anything are taken away.

You're always head your way of making this complicated,
so complicated,

It's time to cover up an tell me about everything,
you're missing, you're wishing, you're hoping

Yeah, we cannot live like this don't let it hold you back

The way you lay your hands upon me make me weak in the knees makes me feel so, right.

How many times do we have to take this over and over?
you already know my side of the story.

It's time to cover up and tell me about everything,
you're missing, you're wishing, you're hoping

I've got to be crazy, with all this thinking we're making progress

It's time to cover up and tell me about everything

Lyrics submitted by Brittney.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>